Bill Allen's "Rag Baby" Discussed by Gov. Hayes.

Special to the Pittsburgh Gazette.

OIL CITY, October 29, 1875.

The special train from Franklin arrived at eight o'clock. The Governor was escorted directly to the Opera House, already crowded to its utmost capacity. The streets resounded with strains of music and the sound of cannon as the procession moved from the station. A brilliant display of fireworks from house-tops added much to the success of the reception. The people seemed to have turned out en masse to welcome their Governor, irrespective of party. Nothing could have been more gratifying to the Governor himself and his friends.

The meeting was addressed first by the Governor, who was listened to respectfully, and was rapturously applauded. Mr. Ketcham then entertained the audience with one of his very best efforts, eliciting cheer upon cheer as he made his telling points on Pershing, and the self-sacrificing Granger, Piollett, the farmer candidate for Treasurer, fares badly at Mr. Ketcham's hands.

After the close of Mr. Ketcham's address, a special train provided through the kindness of C. J. Hepburn, Esq., Superintendent of the Oil Creek & A. R. R., left for Titusville with the Governor, Mr. Ketchum and a committee of reception from that city. Governor Hayes concluded the meeting with one of his inimitable arguments on the "rag baby." Oil City may be regarded as thoroughly aroused, and ready to bury Allen's infant, who escaped to this State on the 12th inst. A.

Governor Hartranft in Titusville.

Complimentary Entertainment by the Citizens' Corps.

Special to the Pittsburgh Gazette.

TITUSVILLE, PA., October 29, 1875.

At half past ten o'clock the special train from Oil City bearing the Governor and party arrived here. An escort of the Titusville Citizens' Corps met His Excellency, who was driven to the Parshall House, and subsequently to the armory of the corps, on the corner of Pine and Spring streets. On entering the reception room the Governor was welcomed by J. Foster Clark, President of the corps, who said they had taken their commander on the wing and heartily welcomed him to the city, and they hoped he would accept their hospitalities for the evening. The Governor replied that he would be glad to avail himself of this opportunity to renew the pleasant associations had with the organization. His Excellency and Mrs. W. H. Abbott led in the promenade to the music of the "Governor's March," and joined in the next dance. At midnight an elegant supper was served at the Mansion House. The dancing continued to a late hour. The best of feeling prevailed. It is to be distinctly understood that the affair was purely military, and of no political import, both political parties being represented in the corps, and Col. J. B. Olmstead, commanding officer, being one of the prominent Democrats of the city, the Governor would be the last man to take advantage of the corps in the present campaign. He was highly pleased with his reception and the compliment conveyed by it. In the morning he leaves for Corry, for an afternoon political meeting, and will return here for another to-morrow night. A Politician Fighting Editors.

Late yesterday afternoon an order of arrest was issued by Police Justice Duffy against the editors of the Times, on complaint of James T. King, the Tammany nominee for the Legislature. The Times of this morning says: "Kelly or his Tammany tools may apply for orders of arrest against editors of newspapers three days before the election, and thus endeavor to silence all adverse criticism of him or his creatures; but if he supposes that this course will induce the people to turn out and vote for him next Tuesday, he will find himself miserably deceived. The public know what the Times has risked in their behalf before to-day. We are quite content to place our character and reputation against those of John Kelly."

The House of Bishops of the P. E. Rev. Sam. T. J. Schereschewsky was elected Bishop of China and Rev. Dr. Wm. J. Clarke, of Georgia, Bishop of Africa. After the transaction of some routine business the House adjourned sine die.

BRIGHAM YOUNG ARRESTED.

The Ann Eliza Divorce Case—Brigham to be Imprisoned Until He Pays $9,500 and the Costs of the Suit.

SALT LAKE, October 29.—The decision of the Court in the matter of alimony pendente lite Young vs. Young, was delivered in the Third District Court to-day, by Judge Breman. The Court previously ordered that the defendant should appear personally in Court when the decision was rendered. The affidavits of two physicians, sworn to, were presented, stating that the defendant was scarcely able to be out of bed, that it was dangerous for him to leave his room, and for that reason they asked that he be excused. The Court gave a brief history of the case, and at the close spoke as follows: The order in this case granting alimony pendente lite was not improperly made, and stands unrevoked and not obeyed. No good reason is given for it. A Court, in order to maintain its dignity, self respect and authority, cannot allow its orders to be repudiated, disregarded or denied. It is, therefore, the judgment of the Court that the defendant be imprisoned until the $9,500 and costs of the suit are paid and released by the Court. In accordance with the above Marshal Maxwell arrested Brigham Young this afternoon at the latter's residence, where he now remains in the custody of the Marshal.

Fresh troops were forwarded from the fort, and a dispatch received at the office of the Kansas Pacific road to-night states that these fresh troops were attacked by the Indians while camped near the Smoky Hill river, on Thursday, and that the Indians were again successful, and made the soldiers retreat with the loss of one man killed and one badly wounded. Important Case Before the Supreme Court of Vermont.

MONTPELIER, October 29.—In the Supreme Court, this morning, was heard the case of James Ferritter et al. vs. James Tyler et al. The parties live in Brattleboro, where, on Corpus Christie Day, June 4th last, one hundred and fifty Catholic children stayed away from school, by the desire of their parents, and attended church. Tyler, for the school committee, would allow them to return only on condition that they should not do so in the future, to which the parents would not assent. The question before the Supreme Court was whether the committee had power to exclude children from school. The committee acted under certain school laws. The case came up on an appeal from the decision of the Chancellor, giving a pro forma judgment for the defendants. The decision of the Court was withheld.

EVANGELICAL ALLIANCE.

Work of the Last Day's Session.

The Sunday Question Discussed—Religion in the Common Schools—Design and Future of the Alliance—Closing Exercises.

The final session of the Evangelical Alliance was held yesterday in the First Presbyterian church. The discussion in the forenoon was upon "The Sabbath Question," the opening speaker being Rev. M. Valentine, D.D., of Gettysburg, and President of the Pennsylvania College. He read a carefully prepared paper upon the subject, saying that in it all classes of society are deeply concerned. The overthrow of the Sabbath law, or a lowering of the sanctity of the day so as to leave but a nominal Sabbath or only a secular holiday, would radically affect the whole social, industrial and moral condition of the country. Every man, woman and child has interests even the highest, at stake in the issue. Even the preservation of the day, if secured on wrong principles, must be attended with loss and damage. If the preservation of the Christian Sabbath is secured only on the ground of human expediency, of social or national custom, as some have urged, but with a compromise or surrender of the high ground which rests its authority in God, there would be little to rejoice over in the success. Allowed to remain on an authority which is only human and conventional, the day could not long withstand the worldly powers that seek to desecrate and destroy it. Left on a foundation of sand, the floods could sweep it away. The gentleman then proceeded to show that the Sabbath was instituted by God while man was still in his Paradisaical state, and claimed that it was to furnish man, at the very start, with what his nature and welfare would require. He said this ordination of the law at the creation, viewed in the language which states the fact, fix a number of points very vital in the whole Sabbath question.

IMPORTANT POINTS.

First—The Sabbath began in direct divine appointment, as a law for man as man, under which the race was to start forward in its unfolding and history.

Second—It was ordained as a day of rest, after the idea and pattern of God's resting, and so was made a memorial of the completed work of creation.

Third—Beyond its use as a day of rest, it was set apart for the worship of God and the special needs of man's higher nature.

Fourth—The Sabbath in its primitive sanctification and universal relation, cannot—as the antagonism to its enforcement often represents—be looked upon as simply a Mosaic law, or a Jewish institution with merely local and temporary obligations for the Jewish nation.

Fifth—The Sabbath rose ages before and wholly unconnected with the ceremonial law afterwards given to the Hebrews.

Sixth—While numerically the "seventh day" was sacrificed and the first made the Sabbath, the principle that evidently formed the original essence of the institution was that one seventh of time, one stated day out of seven, should be held as sacred to God and the care of spiritual interests.

THE CHANGE OF DAY.

After enlarging upon these points the speaker proceeded to consider the Mosaic and Jewish aspects of the Sabbath, and then passed on to consider the institution of the Christian Sabbath. He claimed the change of the day on which the Sabbath should fall, from the seventh to the first, did not touch the continuance or validity of the Sabbatic law. The change was made by the "Lord of the Sabbath." Himself fixed the day by ending the work on which the "new creation" of grace arises, and guided His apostles through the Holy Spirit, who was to lead them unto all truths, to observe the first day of the week as thenceforth the great day of worship. The change, he contended, did not affect the essence of the law, but only that which was incidental and capable of modification—the determination of the particular day. It involved no disregard of any of the essential elements of the Sabbath, but took them all up, and in accordance with principles of modification already recognized, incorporated in the Sabbath law for the gospel dispensation a commemorative relation to the completed redemption in Christ. The speaker then proceeded to consider the necessity for the proper observance of the Christian Sabbath, and contended at length that just in proportion as the day was observed in accordance with divine command would be the prosperity and moral improvement of the nations.

ELEVATING OTHER DAYS.

The next speaker upon this question was Rev. S. M. Hopkins, D. D., of Auburn Theological Seminary. He claimed that by the teachings of the New Testament it was clearly established that the Fourth commandment had been abrogated by the new dispensation, but it had been so abrogated because the teachings of Christ were intended to make all days alike sanctified. It was not by dragging down the Sabbath, but by bringing the other days up to the same level with the Sabbath. He claimed that there is no divine command for the observance of the first day of the week as the Sabbath, and contended that all the teachings of Christ and the Apostles demonstrated that it was not wrong to perform ordinary or worldly employment on that day. This view he also claimed was sustained by the fathers of the church. In summing up his argument he said that if according to the teachings of the New Testament and the view and practice of the primitive church, that the Fourth commandment, as a law, is abrogated, then the observance of any particular day and the manner of observing it is a question left to the individual Christain conscience. In proceeding, he said the attempt to enforce the observance of the Sunday as the Sabbath on the individual conscience, by the terms of the Fourth commandment, labors under insurperable difficulties. The great mass of emigrants to this country have been educated under a different system, and cannot be brought to accept the Puritan doctrine. This is more particularly the case because they perceive that the Puritan or Jewish doctrine is not accepted by the mass of the American people or by the American church, nor even by that smaller section of it commonly distinguished as Evangelical.

CIRCUMSTANCES ALTER CASES.

The well-to-do church member enjoys the space of his grounds and gardens on Sunday, eats his ample hot dinner and drives to church in his carriage, thus breaking the Jewish Sabbath for himself, his servants and his cattle. When, after this, he turns round and frowns upon the laboring immigrant who on his one holiday takes a quiet walk with his family in the parks or fields, or forms an excursion into the country, there is danger of his being likened to an ancient class of religionists who laid heavy burdens and grievous to be borne upon man's shoulders, and would not touch them with one of their own fingers. That it would be better every way even for the hardest worked operative to spend a part of the day in communing by public worship with God in His word, before going out to enjoy communication with God in his work, is unquestionable. The observance of the Sunday, as a day of worship, he contended, is not promoted by legislative enactments interfering with individual liberty of action. In regard to what particular things are to be permitted or prohibited on the Sunday there is room for difference of opinion. It was not proposed, he said, to attempt a solution of such cases. The general principle laid down by Christ, even for the interpretation of the Fourth commandment, was: "It is lawful to do well on the Sabbath day." Whatsoever not interfering with worship on the one hand, nor with needful rest on the other, comes under the comprehensive description of "well-doing;" whatever tends to man's moral, physical and religious welfare would seem to come within the category of lawful things.

Dr. Sloan, Dr. Ganse, Rev. Wonderly, Dr. Taylor, of Newark, Dr. Mahlin and Dr. Milligan, all, in five minute speeches, objected to the view of Dr. Hopkins, claiming that the Christian Sabbath had been divinely appointed and that its observance is fully required by divine commandment.

The business of the morning meeting being at an end, it adjourned with the benediction.

Afternoon Session.

The first paper read at the afternoon session was by Rev. W. J. R. Taylor, D. D, of Newark, N. J., on "The Sabbath School of To-day and of the Future." He commenced by stating that there are in this country sixty thousand Sunday Schools, and as many superintendents, six hundred thousand teachers and five million pupils. Next to the common schools there is no agency equal to the Sunday School for teaching the young. The mission school is the connecting link between the church organization and the outlying masses, many of which are foreign born. It is the child of the church, is a Providential necessity, is not a self regulating machine, but needs care and attention. It is a true vine. It is a vast missionary organization, pioneering the way of empire into new settlements, and it remains to be seen whether compulsory education can be enforced among the degraded and vicious classes without the modification of mission schools. Next addressing his remarks to the character of Sunday Schools, the speaker said that the time has come to stop the rage for gymnastics in them, and to abolish the stage and cease the round of experiments that are being made, none of which enter into the proper functions of Sunday Schools, and which are not calculated to increase their efficiency. Jesus once taught his disciples how to enter the kingdom of heaven by placing a little child in their midst and making of it his parable. Referring to the Sunday School library, Dr. Taylor said it was either a help or a hindrance, and he urged that it be kept clear of all trashy and poisonous books, which often by carelessness and inexperience get upon its shelves. A more serious evil than all others is the introduction of books of a secular character, exciting and improbable stories, novellettes, and other wishy-washy stuff, which is not infrequently found in Sunday School libraries. The speaker once himself discovered a neatly bound history of a Roman Catholic saint, which a teacher had placed in the library through error. The books in the library should be of such a character as not to undo the work the teacher is doing, and no volume should be allowed there that contradicts the Book of God. In too many instances the contents of libraries are any thing but real Sunday School books. There is no reason why a well chosen library should not be a ceasless blessing. A witty observer once said that the little children were doing all in their power to find Christ but were prevented from doing so by the press. Another very important factor in the advancement of Sunday Schools is the quality and efficiency of the teachers. In a school furnished with earnest teachers and governed by a wise Superintendent the dignity to be maintained by it will become so apparent that it will find time for nothing but model work. Considering the number and variety of teachers employed the wonder is that the schools have not suffered from their inexperience. A question that has often presented itself is why may not the best teachers have larger classes than is usually given them. A class of twenty-five or more placed under their instruction would have very material effect in increasing the effectiveness of the school. The normal classes and teachers' institutes will soon pave the way for teachers who can supply the demand for instructors for intermediate and infant scholars.

It is noticeable also that the tendency is to extend the sphere and complicate the Sunday school system so that only an experienced engineer can run it. Do not treat the tender vine as you would the oak tree. Remember that it is the Sunday school, the Sabbath school, the Mission school, but it is neither a college nor a university. Let it be kept as the Bible school. The pastor must fall in and assist in the work. He can teach the Bible class, or superintend when the occasion demands. The speaker here drew a picture of the future Sunday school, for which the past has been but the preparation, and urged the education of the children in order that they may fill their positions in it. He finished his address by a joint reference to the common schools and the Sunday schools, and with the beautiful admonition to wave over them the flag of the Union and the banner of the Cross.

RELIGION AND THE COMMON SCHOOLS.

Following Dr. Taylor, Rev. John Cotton Smith, D. D., of New York, read a lengthy paper relative to "Religion in the Common Schools." He said that the question comprises one of the most important problems for our age and country to solve, and took the ground that inasmuch as State and church are divorced from each other in this country the Bible should be excluded from the public schools. The carelessness with which it is read in them he held is surrounded by no benefits, but is calculated to create irreverence. He did not, however, argue for the exclusion of the Bible as a concession to the demands of Catholicism. If it were taken out the Romanists would still be unsatisfied, a division of the school funds being the real object at which they aim, and which they would then clamor for on the ground that the schools are godless. So are other things for which we are taxed. The paving of our streets, building of aqueducts, transmission of letters, all are godless works. Anything more than secular education by the State is inevitably becoming more and more impracticable. The speaker said that he regarded Ultramontanism as the greatest foe at present to civilization and freedom. He contended for consistency, in that the Evangelical churches do not touch the public funds, and if the Roman Catholics do to tell them that the common schools will be defended with the arguments of iron and blood. It is the duty of Christians to supply for the people a system of religious education.

DIFFERENCE OF OPINION.

Rev. E. S. Porter, D. D., of Brooklyn, took a view of the question altogether the opposite of Dr. Smith's. He said that every nation has a distinctive life of its own, as manifested in its laws and institutions. Our forefathers did not intend to establish a Government either pagan, secular or atheistic, but one recognizing the inseparability of morality and religion. Every State in the Union has a system of laws and morals founded on the Bible. The speaker particularly objected to fathers who have no children dictating how fathers who have children shall educate them. He referred to the Jesuits, a sect suppressed once by its own church, but which has now seized upon the Papacy, and seeks to destroy our common school system. The great problem in our history is now in our presence. It is the question of national freedom and independence for centuries to come. Politicians don't see it. They say give us the offices and after us the deluge. After referring to the fact that the breaking down of our public schools means the destruction of our political institutions, and that the Catholic church curses everything and wants to inaugurate the millennium of the dark ages, the speaker asked if there could be education without trace or color of religion. He maintained that there could not be. That the young student studying astronomy, geography or natural history would want to know who made all these things. And, said he, shall we be restrained by the Jesuits from answering them out of the Bible that "In the beginning God created," &c. The Bible is in no wise sectarian, and its use in the public schools cannot be considered sectarian. In conclusion, Dr. Porter submitted the following propositions as of vital importance:

First—That the public schools, without division of funds for sectarian purposes, must be maintained as identical with our national perpetuity.

Second—That public opinion should be aroused and educated to understand the nature of the issue joined.

Third—That as a moral, and therefore responsible agent, the State should aim to impart the principles of Biblical morality without any sectarian bias.

After an address from Rev. J. Chamberlain, of Brazil, containing a number of instances regarding the operations of the Jesuits in that country, the Alliance adjourned, with prayer by Rev. Wood, of Morgantown, until evening.

Evening Session.

The gathering last evening, the closing meeting of the Conference of the Alliance, was fully up to the very large attendance that had hitherto accompanied the session. The weather was to a degree unpropitious, but its influence was scarcely noticeable, if at all, as the church was full.

The exercises were opened by singing the 329th hymn—

"All hail the power of Jesus' name."

Following this Rev. Mr Mills, of the Moravian Church, led in prayer.

Letters of regret at not being able to be present were then read from Rev. C. H. Fowler, D. D., L. L. D., of Evanston, Ills., President of the University at that place; Rev. Morris S. Baldwin, Canon of Christ's Church Cathedral, Montreal, Canada; Dr. Potter, President of Union College, Connecticut, at present pastor of Grace Church, New York; Bishop Simpson, of the M. E. Church; and the St. Louis Evangelical Alliance; the latter conveyed regret at not being able to send delegates. All the letters expressed earnest sympathy with the aims and objects of the Alliance, and bore words of Christian cheer to the laborers for Christ who were here present.

Upon the conclusion of the reading of the letters, the President announced that "The Designs and Future of the Alliance" would be stated by of New York. The Doctor remarked in opening that though he and his brethren who had come from abroad had found that a somewhat murky sky hangs over Pittsburgh, yet the hearts of her citizens are as warm as the fires that glow in her furnaces.

It was at the close of the great meeting of the Evangelical Alliance in New York, that it was thought something must be done to secure permanent results. If they were inactive, the results of the meeting might pass away. It was proposed to make Christian literature a means of securing these results; but upon second thought it was seen that such a method would be a rather a side effort. Then these biennial meetings were decided upon; not without fear that they would prove unsuccessful. But such has not been the case. It can easily be seen that many benefits have sprung from these. They are a source of increase of Christian fellowship, for one thing. The speaker's experience was that the greatest source of strife between denominations is ignorance of one another. When they come together they find that what at first seemed vast differences, prove to be very small indeed. They also find that it is best to discuss the points of unity rather than those of difference. These are some of the real goods. Another is the free, open, fair discussion of living issues of the times. If we will come to a full understanding, we must come to an open discussion. In these discussions all differences cannot be removed, but charity can prevail.

In the workings of the sessions of the Alliance, the speaker thought more good could be accomplished by the discussion of a few plain questions than by a multiplicity of subjects, and discussing them in a plain argumentative way, than by indulging in flights of oratory.

He believed in organic union, and in the historical union of the churches, and thought the meetings of the Alliance will promote that end. The New York Alliance proved that the different denominations are by no means a mere heap of disintegrated atoms. But he did not believe this end would be attained in a moment, while the knowledge that it is distant should not prevent us from laboring for it.

Upon the conclusion of Dr. Washburne's remarks, the 930th hymn was sung, after which Rev. E. P. Rogers, D. D., of New York, chairman of the Executive Committee of the Alliance, came to the front and commenced

THE CLOSING ADDRESS.

This was a masterly effort; full of pathos and eloquence and true charity, and we regret that our limited space this morning prevents us from giving more than a few notes of it.

He opened by adverting in feeling terms to the sadness that always accompanies the necessity for saying "farewell," and more especially is this the case in such a gathering as this has been. Such pleasureable meetings are exceptional, yet the parting must come. Like the Apostle Peter, who wished to build the tabernacle upon the Mount, and desired to linger there, forgetting the sin-burdened world below and the mighty work to be done; so have we lingered upon the mountain-top, compared views been cheered by each other, been instructed by listening to the words of learning, brightened the links in friendship's chain and added new ones; and now we must go down the mountain side, and face the multitude of sin that awaits us. Though we fain would linger, yet must we say farewell.

But, said the speaker, before we go let us gather up some of the pearls that lie strewn about. Members have come from the East, the West, the North, the South to mingle in fraternal greeting. The Alliance holds that the Church of Christ is one; that it is one fold with a common Shepherd. Even as the branch, the leaf, the root, constitute one whole, so is the Church of Christ one in a close, vital, indissoluble union to one common head. We have nothing to do with those distinctions which are for the most part accidental; we remember only that we believe in the Holy Catholic Church and Christian unity.

In the great Evangelical Conference in New York, where were present delegates from every sect and every clime it was eloquent to see the unity of sentiment—how all creeds had vanished. There too, all the belief that was not forgotten was that in the Holy Catholic Church and the communion of Saints.

The Alliance teaches that whatever a man believes, so he believes no fundamental error, or whatever he rejects, so he rejects no fundamental truth, he is still a Christian, and welcome to the Evangelical Alliance.

The speaker believed that we should watch the signs of the times; that it is evident there is a disposition for a closer unity among Evangelical Churches.

He advised his hearers to manifest the unity which is of God, rather the uniformity which is of earth. Each can prize as he may the own peculiar mode of his church; an esprit de corps may be maintained; yet all should remember the unity which is in Christ.

The speaker then, in eloquent and touching terms, bid farewell to the people of Pittsburgh and the officers of the Conference, and took his seat amid applause that was eloquent in its subduedness yet earnestness of the effect his beautiful address had made upon his audience.

The President then arose and called upon Dr. Scovill to make the reply on the part of Pittsburgh. Dr. Scovill declined that honor, as the previous arrangement was that Rev. B. F. Brooke, of Christ Church (M. E., Pittsburgh,) should perform that duty. Therefore Dr. Brooke came to the front, and in a short and appropriate address performed the task impose upon him.

Following him Dr. Scovill, Secretary of the Conference, and pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in which the meetings have been held,) made a few remarks that were extremely happy.

President Brunot then said a few words, after which the congregation joined in repeating in unison the Apostle's creed and the Lord's Prayer, the benediction was pronounced by Dr. Washburne, and the audience dismissed.

And thus has ended the Third Biennial Session of the Evangelical Alliance of the United States.

Colored Meeting in East Liberty—The Grand Parade To-Night.

A meeting of goodly proportions, composed of colored citizens of the East End, was held on Thursday evening at the rooms of the Union club, in East Liberty. It was organized by electing Mr. P. Busby President and selecting Mr. Steveron as Secretary. The chief address of the evening was delivered by Mr. W. T. Bark. He vividly impressed upon his auditors the importance to the colored race of the issues involved in the present campaign, and exhorted them to turn out on Tuesday next, and show by their ballots that they appreciate the magnitude of the interests at stake; that they know how to treat the Democratic party, which has in the past protested against the vote of its representatives against every measure calculated to elevate the colored race. At the conclusion of Mr. Barks' address, which was both logical and eloquent, the meeting adjourned with three earnest cheers for the whole State and county Republican ticket.

The last general Republican parade of the campaign takes place this evening. It promises to be in point of brilliancy the crowning procession of all. The line will form in sections of eight and move at a quarter of eight o'clock, over the following route: Penn avenue to Butler street, thence to Forty-fourth street, up Forty-fourth street to Penn avenue, along Penn avenue to Thirty-third street, up Thirty-third street to Herron avenue, thence to Centre avenue, down Centre avenue to Filton, along Fulton to Wylie avenue, down Wylie to Fifth avenue, and thence to Liberty street, and dismiss.

Republican Meeting at Banksville.

The Republican meetin at Banksville on Thursday evening was a success. The meeting was organized with the following officers:

President.—Mr. John Snellen.

Vice Presidents.—Messs. George Gray, Ralph White, John R. Bily, J. M. Schiesman, George Archibald and Jno. Oliver.

Secretaries.—Andrew Villiamson, Henry C. Sundus.

The meeting was adressed by John Robb, Esq., and Col. J. S. Haymaker. Both gentlemen made lengthy speeches, confining themselves closely to the financial questions of the campaign, which were ably discussed and attentively listened to by a large audience. Music was furnished by the Elgus Brothers, who were a full brass band in themselves. The various Republican committees in this part of the county are all working with energy.

Fife has many warm suporters in Union township among the Demorats, and the Republicans are unanimous for him.

Hartranft, Rawle and One County Ticket—Grand Rally of the Colored Citizens of Allegheny.

Arrangements have been made for a mass meeting of the colored citizens of Allegheny at Baptist Hall, on Park Way. It will take place on Monday evening, Nov. 1st, at 7½ o'clock.

Come forth, all ye that love liberty and its franchises. Your altars and your homes, your very freedom and the rights of freemen are in danger, if the Democratic party, aided by its coadjutors, the Prohibitionists, get into power.

Addresses will be delivered and instructions given relative to the rights and privileges of voters.

After the meeting, which will adjourn early, the Allegheny Central and Vigilant Clubs will parade.

Beauty for Ugliness.

How to have a neat foot has been a puzzle to many a lady, and gentleman as well, and to all such we would say that the only true method is to wear a boot or shoe that will exactly fit the foot, and also that the wearing of such boots and shoes as are kept in store by R. Taggart, No. 129 Federal street, Allegheny, will render the ugly foot handsome, and the well-shaped foot very handsome. The great excellence of Taggart's boots and shoes is that they are not made at random, but are manufactured to his order and with as much circumspection as to shape and fit as if custom made. We know of one man will bet a thousand dollars that Taggart's is the cheapest shoe house in the two cities.

Splendid Chickering Grand Piano

at a sacrifice. Cost a few years ago $1,250, will be sold without reserve to the highest and best bidder, on Tuesday, Nov. 2nd, at John D. Bailey's (late McIlwaine's) auction rooms, 106 Smithfield street, second floor, at 10 A. M.

To Colleges or Seminaries especially this is a splendid chance to get an elegant piano cheap as it must be sold. It can be bought at private sale for $275 by addressing "Oliver," Box 242 Pittsburgh P. O., until Nov. 1st, at which time, if not sold, it will be sold at the auction rooms.

BONDS at Frankfort, new 5s, 99½.

GOLD closed in New York yesterday at 116½.

SAYS the Philadelphia Bulletin, referring to the demand for power among the Democracy, in this State, under the cry of reform: "The domestic quarrels of the Democrats of New York city just now furnish an interesting subject for consideration to those persons who propose to help the party to power in this State. The squabbling is done by the two leaders of the municipal divisions of the party; one of whom, JOHN KELLY, is charged this morning by the Times with having stolen $90,000 from the City Treasury, while the other, JOHN MORRISSEY, is an ex-prize fighter, who is now the proprietor of a gaming hell. These are the chosen men of the Democracy in a city where it holds supreme control of the government."

THE good old custom of observing Thanksgiving, originating among the Puritans and made national by LINCOLN, is soon to be observed among us for the present year. President GRANT has issued a proclamation appointing the 25th of November next as a day of National Thanksgiving. Despite the widespread suffering that has been caused by the continued depression of the business of the country, there is much cause for rejoicing in the bountiful increase of the earth, in the absence from the land of war and pestilence, and in the myriad individual blessings that have been vouchsafed to the people. Perhaps before the day of praise arrives there may be another reason for profound thanksgiving in the defeat of the Democratic party, and in the consequent relief of the country from the dishonor which is threatened by its proposed financial policy.

A VERY important case is now pending in the United States Supreme Court in the case of the Government against the Union Pacific Railroad Company, to compel the latter to reimburse the Government for interest paid upon the bonds loaned to assist in the construction of the road, or, more specifically, to permit the Government to withhold the entire amount due the Company for transportation and apply the same as an offset to the claim for the payment of interest on the bonds. An idea of the magnitude of the issue now pending in the Supreme Court is furnished by Attorney General PIERREPONT's statement, that a decision in favor of the Company will be equivalent to a gain of $200,000,000 to the stockholders of the Pacific Railroads, and that, before a single generation shall have passed, the Government will have paid, in the shape of interest alone, for the different Pacific Railway Companies, the enormous sum of $318,035,714, less only the deduction of one-half the Companies' charges for services rendered the Government from year to year.

THE Democratic cry in this State, just now, is reform. They have practically abandoned their financial theories, and claim to be the reformers of the age. In Chicago they are in power, and have deliberately and arbitrarily excluded Republicans from Election Boards. An indignation meeting was called for last night, to consider the following points: 1. To give expression to the feeling of indignation which prevails throughout the community against the arbitrary, unjust, and corrupt action of the Board of County Commissioners in refusing to grant the request of the Republican Nominating Convention for proper representation on the Boards of Election. 2. "To take such action as may be deemed advisable to protect the purity of the ballot-box" next Tuesday. Says the Inter-Ocean: "Righteous indignation fitly describes the temper of all honorable men in view of the high-handed outrage committed against the rights of the people by the Board of County Commissioners. The merchants of Chicago will assemble to-morrow night to protest, and to resolve to protest, against an act of arbitrary power, and to resolve that the purity of the ballot box shall be maintained at every hazard. The corrupt servants of the people have resolved to become masters by robbery—robbery through the violation of the sacred right of free suffrage. The people have resolved to be heard at the ballot box, have resolved to vote, have resolved that their votes shall be counted, and have resolved that no votes shall be illegally polled and illegally counted." The Tribune says of the same thing: "The political prostitutes of Chicago have notified the tax-payers of the city, through their representatives on the County Board, that they mean to stuff the ballot boxes at the next election. This is the only explanation of the refusal of the just demand that the Republican party should be represented on the list of judges of election at every poll. The judges whom Mr. HESING had appointed at his secret confab with the Committee on Public Service of the County Board are expected to falsify the voice of the people. That is what they are chosen for." This is the kind of Reform the Democracy give when in power.

THE COUNTY TICKET.

We make use of practically our last opportunity of addressing our readers on the duty of adhering closely to our county ticket. With Monday will come the bustle and stir of active preparation for the actual work of Tuesday. We therefore desire to say that we hope every Republican will vote. Also that he will vote our entire county and State ticket. We have mentioned the personal merits of the candidates, and know them to be deserving the confidence and esteem of every true Republican and good citizen. We claim the right to be believed, when we mention that last year, when there were names on our ticket which were not, in our judgment, suitable, we withheld from them our active support. This year we have a ticket that is all that can be desired. It is made up of men, tried and true, who are known as men of high character and of fine reputation, and who are free from the first suspicion of taint. Even our enemies being judges, no wrong attaches to our candidates.

On the other hand we have charged, time after time, and no denial has been made, that the Democratic county ticket was set up, one Sunday afternoon, by an influential lay Jesuit, and that the ticket is largely Catholic. While we do not think our Catholic fellow-citizens should be deprived of any civil rights and privileges that are enjoyed by others, we do think that when a ticket is set up by one of their number, in that especial interest, and made up of a large majority of Catholics, that fact should be clearly known, that the people may vote in the full knowledge of all the facts. This we have stated specifically, time after time, yet the Post, so ready to deny when it can safely do so, has never uttered a word on the subject.

With these things before us, we hope no complimentary votes will be given. No man on the Democratic ticket should be favored. Let us keep the party lines intact, and vote, and direct our energies to the election of all who have been nominated for the several county offices. Allegheny county ought to roll up a grand majority, and if she performs her duty, will. In all parts, we hope the people will rouse themselves to vote. See that the lethargic are stirred up, and that the tardy are brought out. Energy and earnestness are required, and these should be unstintedly employed to bring out a full vote. With this, our county will give a majority which, if not equal to the war times, will at all events, contribute to the success of the ticket by a majority of which we may all be proud.

THE GOVERNOR'S TOUR.

If any have doubted the personal popularity of Governor HARTRANFT, his recent receptions in Western Pennsylvania would set the matter in its true light. Wherever he has been, in this city and the towns at the West and Northwest, citizens have turned out, almost en masse, to welcome him, and testify their appreciation of the Governor and the man. Democrats as well as Republicans have extended to him cordial greetings, and even where they did not intend to break over party associations and vote for him, Democrats have cordially testified their personal appreciation of his worth as an officer and man. We mention these things that we may add, that a person so evidently worthy, and who commands the unreserved confidence of the people because of services rendered, and of his general bearing in the Gubernatorial office, is pre-eminently the one to continue in that position at the present time. One of the chief duties of our Governor, next year, will be that of courtesy and hospitality. Our State will play the host to the people from all parts of the world, who will assemble to witness the great display at our Centennial, and it is desirable that we be fitly represented in our Governor. We have no fear that Mr. PERSHING will be elected,—but were he, with his narrow mind and diminutive body, the people of Pennsylvania would be anything but happy over the result, when the Centennial year arrives. Governor HARTRANFT, on the other hand, has a splendid military reputation,—a very great matter in the estimate of European visitors,—a fine personal bearing, and a record in civil administration of which any person may be proud. He possesses the confidence and esteem of the people, and thus can fitly represent us on the great occasion referred to.

It is a noticeable circumstance, on the contrary, that Mr. PERSHING's candidacy has awakened no enthusiasm, and that there is not a spark of personal magnetism in him, or his cause. The support he receives from many papers and persons is entirely perfunctory. They do not admire the man, while they detest his record, and look with contempt on the selfishness that prompts him to hold one office till he gets another. Even the Philadelphia Times, the ablest Democratic paper in the State, expressed its abhorrence of this feature of his candidacy in strong terms. It declared that he made of himself a mere driftweed—a fact that all see and feel, to the joy of Republicans, and sorrow of Democrats. Yet the course of the two candidates illustrates the difference in their characters. The one seeks to illustrate his dignity by remaining on the bench, and withdrawing from public life. The other shows his real dignity by his bearing in the midst of the people. The one keeps himself where no questions can be asked him, while the other meets the people face to face, listens to their inquiries, and answers them. One, so far as this canvass is concerned, is a non-entity; the other, a living presence in the midst of the people. The effect of these things is very great. The people trust those who trust them—and the tour of Governor HARTRANFT has, for this very reason, made him thousands of votes.

There are advantages in the tour the Governor is making aside from the purely political aspects attending it. It familiarizes him with the people, and with the peculiarities and needs of various parts of the Commonwealth. The more intimate his knowledge of such things, the better he is prepared to aid the people in anything that legitimately comes within his range of duty. President GRANT experiences much advantage in administering the affair of the General Government from the trips he makes into the several sections. Thus Governor HARTRANFT, who has visited parts of the State, during this tour, never visited by him before, expresses much benefit, and this will be seen in his future administration of affairs. This aside, and the fact is clear, that the chief object of the tour is political. The Governor is a candidate for re-election, and visits the people that it may be seen what manner of man he is, and that he may speak to the people, face to face. This course is consistent, proper, and right. It has proven very popular, and assures his election by a triumphant majority. The drift of the tide is so apparent that even Democratic papers outside the State admit the fact. They know that PERSHING does not stand the ghost of a chance of election.

Thus the canvass is closing with ovations to our Governor, that indicate the result that will be reached on Tuesday next. The hearts of the people are right, and their brains are clear enough to discriminate between the hypocrisy of the Democratic platform, and the candor of the Republican declaration of principles. They know of the candidates,—that one has been tried and found true, and that the other has skulked from their presence during the canvass. On these things their verdict will be made up.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

MRS. CRABTREE, the mother of Lotta, is lying dangerously ill in New York.

HON. AMASA WALKER, author of various works on finance and political economy, died in Boston on Friday, aged seventy-six.

MRS. RAPP, convicted in St. Paul of participation in a murder, has been sentenced to imprisonment for life, twelve days in each year to be spent in a dark cell.

"YOU would say it was absurd," said Mr. Moody in his sermon last Sunday, "for Dr. Talmage to ride around on a horse, blowing a ram's horn." Yes, absurd, but not astonishing.

B. E. SMITH, of Columbus, Ohio, the only surviving trustee named in the mortgage deed of the Consolidated European and North American Railway, has taken possession of the road.

ACCORDING to "The Wreck Register and Chart for 1873-4," just issued by the British Royal Lifeboat Institution, it appears that that there were 506 lives lost from wrecks, casualties, and collisions on or near the coasts of the United Kingdom. The fleet of the Association, consisting of 250 lifeboats, saved 713 lives from various shipwrecks.

THE United States Circuit Court, at Atlanta, Ga., in the case of Wilmer and others, first mortgage bondholders, against the Atlanta and Richmond Air Line Railroad Company, has decided in favor of the plaintiffs, and decrees that the Trustees shall sell the entire property. The first mortgage amounts to $4,248,000. The accrued interest unpaid to date is about $700,000. The railroad extends from Atlanta, Georgia, to Charlotte, North Carolina, 265 miles.

PIKE'S PEAK.

Graphic Description of a Trip to the Summit.

Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.

COLORADO SPRINGS, October 15, 1875.

Yesterday I did what few men of over seventy have ever accomplished—ascended to the summit of Pike's Peak, and stood 14,275 feet above the level of the sea. There is a good horse-path or trail from the valley, in which this town and Manitou are situated, all the way up to the summit. The distance from here is seventeen miles. The air-line distance to the summit of the peak is twelve miles, although to an unpracticed eye it does not look more than four or five.

We went on horseback. After crossing about four miles of gently rising ground, we entered the gorge or canon of Bear Creek, and followed that stream to its extreme source—a strong, clear spring, about 10,000 feet above the sea level, and as cold as if it ran from a glacier, probably not more than two degrees above congelation. In the seven miles which we followed that rushing torrent, we climbed about 3,600 feet. The water is, of course, broken into thousands of cascades, and lashed into spray, keeping up a perpetual roar. The people of this town intend soon to turn the water of this pure and copious stream into a reservoir west of the town, about 150 feet above the level of the streets, and thence carry it in pipes for distribution. No natural arrangement could be more admirable.

Two miles beyond the head of Bear Creek we reach the Lake House, a rustic hotel of good size, on the bank of a lake of eleven acres. It is deep, and has bold shores. On the northwest side is the base of the mountain range, of which Pike's Peak forms a part; on the southeast it is bounded by a moraine, thrown up probably in the glacial period. The elevation of this lake is 10,300 feet above tide, and the situation and surroundings are picturesque in the extreme. Here we remained over night and had good supper and breakfast, good beds, and good stabling and feed for our horses.

The next morning we started up the mountain side, angling southward till we reached the timber line of the height of 11,750 feet, or 2,525 feet below the summit. Above that point no trees or shrubs grow, but there is some short grass, and many beautiful flowers grow clear up to the summit. At the timber line the trail bends round towards the north, for one mile, over comparatively smooth grassy ground; but the remainder of the way is over a rugged waste of broken rock, which looks as if some huge pile had fallen down, scattering its fragments in wild confusion over two or three square miles. Through this region of desolation the trail—still reasonably smooth—rises rapidly, until suddenly it sets you on the nearly level summit, which is about fifteen acres in extent. It, too, is covered all over with broken fragments of metamorphic rocks, dark colored and exceedingly hard—a composit of porphyry and granite. Under these rocks there is a stratum of mingled clay and pulverized porphyry, of which a kind of mortar can be made.

When we reached the signal station the temperature was that of hard Winter—thermometer 17, and the wind blowing 34 miles an hour. We had not as good an outlook as we had hoped for, for there were some clouds sweeping directly over us, some below us, and the atmosphere was a little smoky. The plains blended with the clouds short of the natural horizon; but on the west we had a pretty good view of South Park, with Mount Lincoln and other high peaks beyond; the Snowy Range beyond the Arkansas, with Mounts Harvard and Yale in the southwest. Peaks which we had passed on our way up—some of which tower up above the timber line—seemed to be dropped into the vale; while the houses in this town were too small to be discovered with the naked eye. The streets and squares we could easily see, but that was all.

Although well clad, I found the weather too uncomfortably cold to spend very much time in looking abroad. Indeed the mountain itself, was to me more interesting than anything else; so I soon returned to the comfortable stove room in the signal station—a substantial one-story stone building—which is now in charge of Sergeant J. V. Brown, U. S. A., from whom I gathered many interesting facts respecting electrical phenomena on the peak. Of that I shall not speak at this time, but make it the subject of another paper. Pike is the third lofty summit from which I have full and interesting reports on that topic from men very competent to give.

Many of the visitors to the Soda Springs of Manitou visit the summit, a large proportion of whom are ladies. This trip is not at all dangerous, and but little fatiguing. The Lake House is an excellent resting-place, where most visitors remain over night, go to the summit in the morning, remain a few hours, and then return to Colorado Springs or Manitou in the afternoon, dining at the Lake House on their way down.

A Little Meteorology.

While at the signal station Sergeant Brown, who treated us with much kindness, gave us an abstract of his meteorological records for 1874, from which I compile a few facts to show the effect of that elevation upon temperature. The following table gives the highest and lowest range of the thermometer, the mean of each month, together with the amount of rainfall. This, of course, includes snow and hail. Snow falls every month. In Winter, only snow; in the Summer, all three. Liquid drops only fall in June, July and August,—occasionally, perhaps, in May and September.

	Highest.	Lowest.	Mean.	Rainfall. inches.	Days
January	23	-25	6	1.3	5
February	20	-26	0	1.2	8
March	20	-24	4	1.4	13
April	35	-11	8	5.4	15
May	45	-2	24	3.2	16
June	57	20	34	.6	9
July	59	31	42	6.0	16
August	56	28	39	3.7	18
September	52	13	29	2.3	6
October	37	-6	21	1.8	12
November	28	-8	12	.4	5
December	29	-15	6	.2	3
Mean temperat'e for year			19	27.5	126

The barometer has to be regulated for that altitude. When we were there the mercury in the tube was standing exactly at 18, which is equivalent to about 30 at the sea level. The lowest range, mean, for any month was in February—29.6; the highest in July and August—30.3; and yet in July there were 16 days when rain fell, and the aggregate for the month was 6 inches. This can only be accounted for on the hypothesis that in July and August the lower strata of the atmosphere are more rarified by heat than at any other season, thus lifting a larger proportion of the air above the level of the peak. Although the weight of the entire volume is not increased, its depth is. This causes a difficulty in the barometrical measurement of mountain summits, which topographical engineers are laboring to overcome. In the summer season, the only time when the work can be done at all, the report of the barometer is a little too low. The altitude of Pike's Peak has been found by instrumental measurement to be about 150 feet higher than the barometer made it. It is now taken as the standard, and other high peaks are measured by it.

I am coming East in a day or two.

Truly, yours,

JOSIAH COPLEY.

THE YALE COLLEGE ROW.

How It Commenced and Concluded—Letter From a Student at that Institution—What He Knows About the Affair.

Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.

YALE COLLEGE, NEW HAVEN, October 25, 1875.

I see by reference to the dailies, not only of my own city (Pittsburgh), but of nearly all the cities of the country, that a very exaggerated account of the little "muss" that occurred here last Tuesday, the 19th, has gone abroad throughout the land. I refer to the contest between the Odd Fellows and the Yale students. As the procession was passing down Chapel street the students collected on the sidewalk near South College, and yelled and cheered, as is their custom when any procession passes the college. Nothing would have resulted from this, however, if it had not been for the following occurrence: Between the sidewalk and the procession there was barely room for a wagon to pass. A teamster with a load of coal did attempt to pass, and as he did so, the crowd cried "Whoa" several times at the horse. This so enraged the driver that he lashed out on all sides with his whip, and struck some of the boys who were nearest in the face. In an instant the boys piled into his wagon from all sides and he was hustled out in a hurry, and they began throwing coal at him from his wagon. Unfortunately the pieces of coal struck several of the Odd Fellows, and, besides this, being jostled by those who were after the teamster, they, the Odd Fellows, believed themselves to be the object of the attack, and commenced slashing at the boys with their swords. Although the students were far inferior in number to their assailants, and at a loss to know why they had been attacked, they stood their ground for a time, and when they did retreat they carried with them some broken swords, and an Odd Fellows hat. There were no stones thrown during the row, with the exception of a few coal stones at the commencement of it. In fact the students could not have thrown any other stones, as the pavement is Nicholson.

Of course this collision is to be deplored, the more so as people believe that the students were to blame, no matter what the merits of the case may have been. Inasmuch as the GAZETTE falls into the hands of some who have friends at Yale, I think it no more than just that they should know the truth of the matter, and should understand that the students are not lost to all sense of propriety in the matter of their public behavior.

Very respectfully yours,

J. J. H.

Afterwards another agreement was made, in which it was expressly stipulated that in case plaintiff should cease to work for defendants before the expiration of a year, the whole amount of percentage retained by defendants and all the wages due and unpaid at the date plaintiff should cease to work, should be forfeited to defendants. They allege that he did stop working before the time fixed. The plaintiff claims that he did not read or understand the second agreement which he signed.

IN the Common Pleas Court No. 1 yesterday, Thomas Glaze instituted proceedings in equity against B. F. Baldwin. The plaintiff claims that in June last he rented a shop from the defendant by verbal agreement for twenty dollars a month, the lease to continue at least a year from June 1st; that he had made extensive preparations for manufacturing Smith's anvils, when in September the plaintiff ejected him from the shop, exposed his tools, machinery and stock to the weather, and damaged him to the amount of $5,000.

IN the Court of Common Pleas No. 1 yesterday, Thos. M. Marshall, Esq., on behalf of Peter M. McGurk instituted proceedings in equity against G. Cory, and Wm. Fawcett to recover damages for alleged conspiracy. Damages claimed $10,000. The plaintiff was charged with having set fire to certain buildings in Braddocks.

ONE TRAMP LESS.

A Man's Head Cut Off at Salem, Ohio.

Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.

SALEM, O., October 27, 1875.

Yesterday morning, about two o'clock as a freight train on the P., Ft. W. & C. R. R. was approaching this town, the headless body of a man was discovered lying near the track. The body was thereupon taken up and conveyed to the station. After daylight the head was found about a half a mile from the place where the body was lying. One arm was cut off and one leg broken in four places. The mess of remains presented a most horrible sight: A coroner's jury has been summoned to hold an inquest. All of the testimony is not yet taken. It appears that the victim was a tramping journeyman tailor, John Foley by name, who had been in the employment of a clothing merchant in this place for a short time. On receiving his wages he went to Alliance and returned on the previous evening, having been on a drunken spree. He loitered about the depot till near midnight, when he requested to be shown the way up into town. This was done, but he soon returned, and made the same request, which was complied with. It is supposed that he then, in his drunken delirium wandered around to the railroad track, where he failed to keep out of the way of an approaching train.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

THE Lucy furnace is now making Bessemer and the Isabella cold short iron.

THE small Allentown rolling mill, which resumed operations quite recently, is running double turn, and it is said arrangements are being made to start the large mill.

THE Lebanon rolling mills have at present 153 men employed and are running day and night. There was more iron turned out week before last than at any other time previous.

THE following iron vessels have been built at Pittsburgh for the Government at various dates: George M. Bibb, Allegheny, Hunter, Michigan, Jefferson, Manayunk, Umpqua, Sandusky and Marietta.

THE Edgar Thomson Steel Works made 99 blows last week, running single turn, producing 457 390-2240 tons of rails. From the first of October to the 23d, inclusive, the aggregate production was 1,412 2060-2240 tons of rails.

LAST week we gave the make of iron at Isabella furance No. 2 during the week previous, which was 714 1240-2140 tons. This was something unheard of in this country, or in Great Brittain. But now we have to chronicle an achievement that exceeds even the above. Last week Lucy furnace, same size as Isabella No. 2 (20 feet at boshes and 75 feet high), made 762 0194-2268 tons. The fuel used was 60 per cent. of Carnegie washed coke and 40 per cent. Connellsville.—American Manufacturer.

Latest Advices Concerning Money and Stock Matters.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, October 30, 1875.

The demands for money are only moderate, and our bankers meet all first class borrowers cheerfully. There is no stringency, so far as is known, nor is any expected in the near future, and rates remain about as last quoted. Outside of the banks, however, there is evidently more paper offering than there was a few weeks ago. There is nothing new to report in the local stock market, and real estate remains quiet.

The following stocks were sold last night at Thos. F. Stewart's sales rooms, corner of Fifth avenue and Wood street:

1,000 shares Columbia Oil Co. - - $4 45
30 shares Castle Shannon R. R. - 4 50

In reply to the statement of an inflationist that the people at the South have not money with which to transact ordinary business, the New York Herald says, "This must make them regret the flush days of the Confederacy, when there was so much money in circulation that a man often paid a thousand dollars for a ten cent cigar." The poverty of these days is lamentable by the contrast!

NEW YORK, October 29, 1875.

The customs receipts were $353,000. The imports of dry goods were $1,350,000. The Assistant Treasurer disbursed $869,000. The clearings were $55,000,000. Sterling 477@481. Gold advanced from 116 1-8 to 116 1-2, closing at the latter price. The rates paid for borrowing were 3-64, 1-16, 1-32 and 1-64 per cent. per diem, and 3 per cent. per annum. Loans were also made flat. Governments were firm and in good demand. Railroad bonds were quiet. State securities were dull. The stock market in early dealings showed an advance in some shares, but afterwards the general list became weak and prices declined. Lake Shore was conspicuously weak, declining from 61 1-8 to 59 7-8. Pacific Mail rose from 40 1-2 to 40 7-8, and afterwards reacted. Western Union advanced from 75 1-8 to 75 5-8, fell off to 74 7-8, and recovered to 75 1-8. Northwest rose from 36 5-8 to 37, and later receded to 36 5-8. Union Pacific rose from 65 5-8 to 66, and subsequently declined to 65 1-4. Panama sold at 134, against 136 yesterday.

Stocks were quiet and firm at the close, with the exceptions of Lake Shore and Northwest, which declined to 59⅞ and 36⅛ respectively. Lake Shore finally sold at 59⅞. Pacific Mail rose from 40½ to 40¾, Western Union from 74⅞ to 75⅜, St. Paul from 33⅜ to 33⅞, Union Pacific from 64⅞ to 65, Missouri Pacific from 9 to 9⅛, and Erie from 17⅜ to 17⅞. The market was hammered by the bears throughout the afternoon, but with the exception of a few stocks, very little impression was make on prices. There is still a large short interest outstanding, especially in some of the leading stocks. The transactions on the Stock Exchange aggregated 148,000 shares, of which 19,000 were Pacific Mail, 39,000 Western Union, 7,000 Northwest, 3,600 St. Paul, 5,500 Erie, 61,000 Lake Shore, 2,000 Ohio, 3,000 Union Pacific, and 19,000 Missouri Pacific.

DAILY REPORT OF PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, October 29, 1875.

The leading merchandise markets present no new or important features deserving of special notice, or to which reference has not already been made in these columns.

APPLES—There is a steady demand and we can report regular sales at $3a3,50 per bushel for fair to good and $4a4,50 for prime to choice.

BEANS—Medium quoted at $1,75a1,85 per bushel, and navies at $1,90a2.

BUTTER—The market continues dull, with a supply in excess of present requirements, and prices are weak but unchanged; prime to choice rolls, 25a27c; ditto solid packed, 20a23c.

BROOM CORN—Trade continues rather quiet in our market. The Chicago Tribune reports as follows: "Continues active and easy, under liberal offerings of Kansas and other Western corn, some of which is sent to parties outside the regular dealers, and forced on the market, so that prices are irregular. It is thought that broom corn will bring better prices after a while. The crop is no larger than that of 1874, and the supply of old left over is considerably less than it was a year ago. A prominent grower at Circleville, O., writes that the crop in his district is not more than half as large as it was last year, most of the crop having been destroyed by the summer floods. The crop of Ohio is probable 1,500 tons short, and only about 200 tons of old are left over, against 1,000 tons last season."

CHEESE—Is in fair demand, but unchanged; Ohio Factory, 13½a14c for August, and 14a14½c for September; prime New York, 15c.

EGGS—The supply of fresh is light and prices are maintained, notwithstanding there is not much inquiry, 27c; pickled, quotable at 20a25c.

FLOUR—The market continues quiet and unchanged. Old red winter wheat, $7a7,25; old spring wheat, $7a7,25; new ditto, $6,50a7. Rye Flour, $5,50a5,75. Buckwheat Flour, 2 3-4a3c per pound.

GROCERIES — Trade continues quiet, and the leading markets are devoid of anything specially new or important. We gather the following statistical information in regard to Coffee from a late Baltimore circular: Stock in first hands at Baltimore, 66,949 bags; stock in first hands at all United States ports, 137,835 bags, against 17,000 bags same time last year. Total stock October 27, 1875, in the United States in first hands, 137,835 bags; afloat and loading for United States to 24th ultimo, 250,141 bags; purchases for United Stated from September 25th to October 23th, 94,000 bags. Total visable supply, 481,976 bags.

GRAIN—The grain markets continue rather sluggish, and with liberal receipts, the supply accumulating and a stronger disposition to realize, prices are weak and in buyers favor. Wheat is still quoted at $1,25a1,35 for new red, and $1,30a1,40 for new white; nothing but strictly prime commanding the outside figures. Old red winter, $1,40a1,45. The Oat market continues dull and weak, with more offering than there is a demand for even at the decline—Penna. and Ohio mixed, 38a40c; do. white, 41a42. Rye continues quiet and nominally unchanged—85a90c. There is such a wide range in Barley that it is difficult to give quotations.

HAY—Continues dull but unchanged—baled, on track, $12a14 for prairie, and $17a19 for timothy.

PROVISIONS—The market continues rather sluggish, and prices are easy but unchanged. A Chicago paper, in referring to the outlook as regards the packing season, says: Prices of hogs are $1,50a2 per 100 lbs. higher than a year ago, and they were thought to be high enough then. Now the situation is regarded with fear by many, and only the boldest will venture to operate if present prices should be sustained. The regular packing season should open next Monday, and some packers will then be at work, but at the rate at which hogs are now coming forward, all cannot commence even if current prices should not stand in the way. If it were not for the fact that the market is very short on product the leading packers would probably work hard to put down prices for the general good of the trade, so that there would be a chance for profit on a rising market during the season.

POTATOES—The receipts have been liberal for some days past, and the market is easier in consequence. Peerless and Early Rose quoted on track, by the carload, at 35a40c per bushel. Peach Blows, 43a45 cents. Jersey Sweets, $3a3,25 per barrel.

NUTS—Chestnuts, $3,75a4,25 per bushel—sale of 100 bushels at $3,75. Walnuts do not appear to be wanted at any price. Shelbarks, $1,75a2 per bu.

ONIONS—Dull; $2a2,50 per barrel.

POULTRY—Live Chickens, 50a60c per pair by the coop.

RAGS—Good mixed, 2½a3c.

SEED—Sales of Timothy Seed at $2,75a2,80 to the trade, and $2,85a2,90 in a small way.

TALLOW—Is quoted at 9 1-2a9⅝c for city rendered; 9a9½c for country.

THE IRON TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, October 29, 1875.

Pittsburgh.

PIG IRON.—Trade continues as dull as ever; there is less doing now than there was during midsummer, when but little is expected, and while it is hoped that there will soon be a revival, the outlook at the present writing is not encouraging. The most of the mills are still in operation, but very few of them are working more than single turn, consequently the consumption of the raw article is light, and the demand is confined wholly to small lots rendered necessary to keep up mixtures. Prices are weak, but nominally unchanged; mill iron quotable at $23a24, 4 mos; No. 1 Foundry, $25a26; No. 2 do., $24a25. Charcoal, $25a30 for warm, and $35a40 for cold blast. Following sales were made public:

MANUFACTURED IRON.

Our manufacturers continue to report trade dull and unsatisfactory, and while they are hopeful that there will soon be a change for the better, the outlook at the present writing is not very encouraging; orders are coming forward sparingly, but few if any, of the mills are working up to their full capacity, and prices for the ordinary sizes are kept down to a point that afford little or no margin for profit. It is evident that one of three things must occur; prices advanced, the cost of manufacture reduced, or a general suspension; it is claimed by those who are in a position to know that there is an actual loss on every pound of merchant iron that is being sold at current rates, and as there is no chance to put up rates, it follows that unless the cost of manufacture can be reduced, the mills will be obliged to shut down.

NAILS.—Nail trade is dull and unsatisfactory, unusually so for this season of the year; but few factories are working much more than half time; orders are coming forward sparingly, and manufacturers appear determined not to accumulate stock; we also learn that Wheeling makers are pursuing the same course, determined not to "pile up." Prices may be quoted at $2.85a2,90, 60 days, for lots of 100 kegs and upward, and two per cent. off for cash—some makers quote at $2,80, nett cash. Trade in Horse and Mule shoes is expected to improve, as it usually does at this season of the year—the former is quoted at 4 3-4c per lb., and the latter at 5 3-4c.

SCRAP IRON.—There is no improvement to note in this branch of business, which has been very dull for some time past—some dealers are refusing to buy and are unable to sell. No. 1 R. R. Scrap quotable at $1,30a1,40, 4 mos., delivered at mills. Car wheels dull; offering at $24a25, 4 mos.

NEW YORK.

American Pig.—Since our last, the Thomas Iron Company have reduced the price of No. 1 Foundry Iron to $24 and No. 2 Foundry to $22, which prices are now general. One or two companies, however, adhere to previous prices. Some holders of large stocks and makers of brands not well known are offering No. 1 Foundry at less than $24, and we note the sale of 100 tons North River Iron at $23. The near approach of the close of navigation fails to affect the market beyond slightly increasing the demand, and the usually restricted demand during the winter prevents any hope of an improvement for some time. The following table shows the state of production in the Lehigh region:

	Furnaces in Blast.	Furnaces out of Blast.	Total.
Carbon	1	2	3
Lehigh Valley	1	2	3
Thomas	3	5	8
Crane	3	3	6
Allentown	5	..	5
Lehigh Iron Co.	..	2	2
Roberts	1	1	2
Saucon	..	2	2
North Penn	..	1	1
Uhler	..	1	1
Glendon	1	4	5
Andover	..	3	3
	15	26	41

We note the sale of 100 tons Crane No. 1 Foundry at $25, less four per cent; about 1,000 tons Thomas No. 1 Foundry at $24; 200 tons Thomas No. 2 Foundry at $22. A telegram from Montreal reports the suspension, yesterday, of the Moisic Iron Company, with large liabilities. The Morris Run Coal Company, of Pennsylvania, have filed a claim against the company for over $350,000. This company has for a long time been embarrassed, and their suspensions occasions little surprise.

Scotch Pig.—The markert is firm and steady, being in few hands and well controlled. We note sales of 100 tons Summerlee, at 31.50; 25 tons Coltness, at 33.

Bar.—We quote Refined at Eastern mills, 2 4a2 5c per lb. The Catassauqua Manufacturing Company have made an arrangement with their creditors to pay them in bonds at 7 per cent., running a number of years.—Iron Age.

PHILADELPHIA.

The season approaches to the close of canal navigation, and whatever of activity there is in the iron market is due to this, although it has not yet amounted to any very material increase of the trade in pig metal. About ten thousand tons a week will cover the transactions in pig iron in this market at present, although there are, of course, very many sales of small lots which are never reported. The actual product continues to average about the same, although some new furnaces are blowing in. The output will not be materially increased before spring, it is thought, nor will prices materially alter, although a spurt of business would follow any threatening of ice, and possibly advance prices $1a2 per ton. Ores are very low, compared to pig metal, as are Bars, and both producers of the one and manufacturers of the other complain of this. Manufactured Iron is nominally the same, but actually a little better than at our last. Rails sell freely, and are in more inquiry than anything else. Old Rails and Muck, as well as Scrap, are all quiet. There is a report of trouble with puddlers at hand here; as however the principal mills have constant trouble with puddlers, it is not likely to curtail production, although wages will be lowered, and a strike may come at any time, and would, indeed, be rather beneficial than otherwise to the Bar mills.

The range of prices is somewhat difficult to quote, for, while some furnace companies refuse the idea of $25 for No. 1, others sell actually under this, and relative quotations for other grades. We quote as follows: Pig Iron.—No. 1 Foundry, $25; No. 2, $22; Gray Forge, $21a22. Bars.—2.6 to 2.7c per pound.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, October 29, 1875.

Trade has relapsed and dullness is again the order of the day, with prices weak and lower. Crude has declined from 3 to 5 cent per barrel, as compared with Thursday; immediate shipment was quoted this P. M. at $1,60; outside lines, $1,30. Refined dull and weak, and buyers and sellers apart in their views—there are few, if any, sellers at quoted rates, and there were no buyers at anything above them. Philadelphia delivery, 13¼c; Baltimore, 12⅞a13c.

The Barrel market continues very dull; sales of countries at $1,30a1,35; city make, quoted at $1,40a1,45, with none selling.

A Pork Conundrum.

It was rumored yesterday that a round lot of 2,300 barrels of mess pork would arrive from Milwaukee during the day and be delivered on contracts this month. It was also stated that the pork was originally intended for this market, and was shipped from Cedar Rapids, Iowa, but was transferred to Milwaukee during the latter part of September. On examining the files of the Milwaukee papers, the shipment of this pork cannot be found, and some parties are disposed to question its shipment from there, especially as that city is very particular to claim everything that is received at Chicago from towns on the lines of the different Wisconsin roads. There is another conundrum in regard to this pork which remains unanswered, and that is: If it came from Cedar Rapids, how came the brands of two well-known packing firms of this city on the packages? And also, how came the Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad to report the arrival of 1,778 barrels of this pork to the Board of Trade, and not to the parties to whom it furnishes statistics?—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

California Crops.

The Secretary of the San Francisco Produce Exchange has reported the stocks of flour and grain in the State on the first of October. The totals embrace 50,900 barrels of flour, 5,450,200 centals of wheat, 1,580,000 centals of barley, 114,500 centals of oats, 160,900 centals of corn, and 15,680 centals of rye. Of the barley 282,700 centals is credited as being in San Francisco, afloat in the harbor and at Oakland Wharf, and a good portion of the remainder is credited to the southern counties. The Bulletin says: "Exporters still think we shall have six million centals for shipment abroad, over one-third of which has already gone forward, and there will probably be less than two million centals left for export in the last half of the year."

THE stage of water last evening was two feet four inches by the marks, and stationary. There was rain last evening, accompanied with thunder and lightning, the first we have heard for some time. The weather was warm and sultry, and the indications favorable for a continuance of rain.

No arrivals or departures.

COMMODORE KOUNTZ has returned from St. Louis.

CAPT. JOHN BENSON commands the Gov. Allen in the bends trade.

CAPT. THOS. POE has gone to Mound City to look after the A. J. Baker.

THE Salt Valley is due from Ironton on Sunday, and will return on Monday.

CAPT. DYAS PARKER and Mrs. B. Halliday, of Cairo, were married at Pomeroy, Ohio.

CAPT. JOHN K. BOOTH has the John W. Garrett fully repaired and ready for business again.

THE Wild Duck and John L. Rhoads are announced to depart for St. Louis on the first water.

MR. JOHN FLACK, the veteran steamboat agent, who has been an invalid for a year or more past, is able to be around again.

PILOT ANDY BUNTON, of Wellsville, was in town yesterday, taking in the Exposition. Andy reports matters very quiet in and around Wellsville.

A MESSAGE was received by Howell, Millspaugh & Co., of Shawneetown, to inform Wm. Pendleton, pilot on the Nail City, to come home on the first train, as his sister was dying in Newport, Ky. The boat had passed before it came.

THE Carrie Brooks was to have left Zanesville for this port yesterday. We are not advised, but we presume Capt. Darlington will be as good as his word, and will bring those long-spurred Ohio roosters for the benefit of hungry Republicans.

THE iron steamers built at Pittsburgh for the Government were: George M. Bibb, Allegheny, Hunter, Michigan, Jefferson, Manayunk, Umpqua, Sandusky and Marietta. The Michigan and Jefferson were built for, and are now running on the lakes.

CAPT. SANFURD B. COULSON, Barney Earl and others connected with the Coulson line of steamers, are expected to reach here within the next week or two. As noted the other day, all the boats connected with this line have been laid up at Yankton, except the Durfee.

A COMPROMISE has been effected between the Louisville and Henderson and Cincinnati and Memphis Packet Companies. The Fawn abandons the trade, the present trip at Louisville, and withdraws from the Cincinnati trade. The Shinkle will be withdrawn from the Louisville trade.

AN Ironton dispatch says: The Ohio River Pilot suspended publication to-day, after one year's life. Cause—failure to get work enough at remunerative prices, and impatient creditors. Ex-Councilman John F. Barker, a well-known river engineer, died on Monday, and was buried at Portsmouth, his former home.

YESTERDAY'S Cincinnati Gazette says:—The tug Groenendyke sunk a coal barge opposite the coal tip, just above Newberg, Tuesday night, with 1,200 bushels of coal, directly in the channel. The Robert Mitchell struck it with one of her barges, turning it upon its side and causing her barge to leak a little. There is good water outside of it.... The J. S. Neel went up the river last evening with empty barges.... Wharfage receipts for the week ending last evening, $165.85.

THE New Orleans Bulletin says: The George Spangler, that arrived a few days ago at Natchez with some barges from Pittsburgh, loaded with railroad iron, seems to have met with great favor at the hands of the merchants of Natchez. She has been proposed to her owner, Captain B. B. Williams, that he run her in the trade between the mouth of the Red river and Vicksburg, making Natchez his headquarters, and promise him that if he will carry freight at one-third less than packet rates he will have their support. She is 127 feet long and has a carrying capacity of 225 tons.

The outward bound express on the Allegheny Valley Railroad struck a man at the outer depot, last evening. He was taken in charge by some parties who carried him away. We were unable to ascertain his name or the extent of his injuries.

Veteran Soldiers

in thousands have visited Walker's great battle picture Look Out Mountain. It was at both the Chicago and Indianapolis reunions, and all soldiers testify to the truthfulness as a historical work. It is now on exhibition in the Exposition building at the right side of the main entrance, and those who fail to see it now will not have another opportunity in this State.

Frustrated.

Mr. Moore, who resides at No. 24 Bluff street, yesterday discovered that preparations had been made to rob his residence. Thieves had been through the house and examined the premises thoroughly, taking away with them nothing but a pair of pants, but before leaving they had removed the screws from the "keepers" of the doors, thus making an entrance at night very easy. Fortunately the discovery of the condition of the locks prevented what was evidently an intended burglary.

Young Woman's Boarding Home.

The managers of this excellent institution will celebrate its fifth anniversary on Tuesday evening, November 2d. The entertainment will consist of a Pound Sociable, with music by some of the best performers in the two cities. A pound package of anything will be acceptable. The auctioning of the packages will occasion much merriment, and an enjoyable time is predicted. Prof. Blumenschein will be in attendance to give a little additional zest to the musical exercises. Tickets of admission 50 cents.

Base Ball.

The following is the score by innings of the game of ball at Union Park, yesterday, between the Braddock and Downer clubs:

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8
Braddocks	0	0	1	2	5	2	0	2	—12
Downers	0	0	0	0	1	0	1	0	—2

The Braddocks and Xanthas play this afternoon, and a fine game may be expected.

The Neshannocks were defeated by the Oil Citys on Thursday at Oil City.

Select Council.

When Select Council adjourned on Monday last it was to meet again yesterday evening. It convened at the appointed hour, seven o'clock, but without a quorum, when Mr. Bruce raised the point of order that the meeting was illegal, first, because Councils cannot, according to law, take a recess for more than twenty-four hours, and, second, because the meeting would, therefore, be a special one, and no meetings, special or regular, can be held except during daylight. As there was no quorum those present considered Mr. Bruce's point of order "settler" and adjourned accordingly.

Serious Accident.

Early yesterday morning, Patrick McDonough, a laborer, employed by a contractor named Gormley, met with a serious accident near Temperanceville. He was on his way to work, walking on the Panhandle railroad, when he was struck by the McDonald accommodation. He was taken to a house near by, and Dr. Walker, of Mansfield, was summoned to attend him. Amputation of one limb and an arm was found to be necessary, one leg was broken, and a fearful gash was sustained upon the head. Although seriously injured the man was not fatally hurt.

Prominent Railroad Officials.

A special car arrived at the Union Depot last evening with the following well known Pennsylvania Railroad men: President Thomas A. Scott. Vice Presidents George B. Roberts and Edmund Smith, General Manager Frank Thomson, General Superintendent G. C. Gardner and Superintendents Robert Pitcairn and J. McC. Creighton. Directors Wistar Morris, Josiah Bacon, N. P. Shortbridge, A. J. Derbyshire, A. M. Fox, W. Anspach, Alex. Biddle and G. Morrison Coates. S. M. Felton, General Manager of the Panhandle road, and Messrs. Stephen W. White and T. N. Ely were also in the party. The gentlemen have been for several days past inspecting the road between this city and Philadelphia. This morning they will start on a tour of examination over the West Penn road.

FATAL ACCIDENT.

A Boy Killed in Allegheny.

Yesterday forenoon a boy named Edward Rankauff met an instant and horrible death as a result of his own foolhardiness. Boys are in the habit of jumping from the stone wall in the West Park, Allegheny, on to the roof of passing freight trains. Young Rankauff was so engaged and had made several successful jumps, and was trying it again when he fell between two cars. The wheels passed directly over the top of his head, crushing it into a shapless mass. As soon as the train could be stopped the body was taken out and conveyed to Rodney & Smith's undertaking establishment, on Ohio street, where Coronor M'Callin was summoned to hold an inquest. The inquest was held in the afternoon, and a verdict rendered in accordance with the facts. The boy lived with his parents at 130 Spring Garden avenue, was seventeen years old and worked in one of the glass factories in the city. He started to work yesterday morning, but for some unaccountable reason stopped and got to playing with a lot of boys. His father was very much effected over the accident.

AMUSEMENTS.

Pittsburgh Opera House.

The "Two Orphans" will have its final representations at the Opera House this afternoon and evening, closing a most successful two weeks' run. Monday night Miss Minnie Palmer, a vivacious and youthful sprite of the Lotta school of actresses, will make her first appearance in Pittsburgh in "Little Silver," a play written for her by Charles E. Collahan, District Attorney of Cincinnati, being its first production on any stage. The lady comes heralded by high praise from other cities, and the piece is said to be full of humor, and strong situations. The double novelty of a new star and new drama will thus greet our lovers of the drama Monday evening.

Trimble's Varieties.

Two performances will be given at this popular place of amusement to-day—the matinee commencing at half-past two o'clock, and in the evening—the great Garretta Troupe, and all the other specialties appearing on both occasions. The patrons of Manager Aims are delighted at the entertainments he furnishes them.

Beamer's Benefit.

The sale of seats for the testimonial benefit to Mr. Beamer is progressing satisfactorily at Hale's music store. Mr. Paul Zimmerman has been substituted for Mr. Beetz, as Lionel, in the cast of "Martha," the latter gentleman never having sung it in English. Otherwise the programme remains unchanged.

Mr. Conway's Lecture.

As will be seen, Mr. Moncure D. Conway is advertised to deliver a lecture on "The Devil; or, Demonology," at Library Hall, on next Tuesday night. This will be the second lecture in the Mercantile Library course, and, although it will come off on election night, still a large audience may be expected. Perhaps the fact of its being on that night may bring out a larger number than would otherwise come, when it is known that at the conclusion of the lecture President McClelland will read the returns to the audience so far as received at the Republican Headquarters.

The subject of Mr. Conway's lecture is unique, and it may be confidently relied upon that the lecture itself will not be less attractive than its name indicates. Mr. Conway will illustrate his lecture by diagrams, &c., which, the Cincinnati papers say, add greatly to the attractiveness of the entertainment.

Real Estate not Depreciated.

Desirable real estate has suffered little or no decrease in value, as witness the sale by James M. Draps & Co., of property No. 275 Penn street, where the attendance at the sale was very large, and the bidding so spirited as to border on the exciting. The price paid was $9,000, and the fortunate purchaser was Dr. Quincy A. Scott. Real estate in the hands of Messrs. Drape & Co., auctioneers, pretty generally brings its best figure, as this firm are possessed of that business tact and energy which insure successful rates.

THE EXPOSITION.

Rambling Through the Great Exhibition.

The Attendance—The Premiums on Stock—Brief Mention of Floating Items—Continuation of Notes From Exhibitors' Stands.

Yesterday the Exposition was lively with the crowds in attendance. The largest number present at any one time was in the afternoon, when the men, women and children from all sections came in. The weather was so balmy and pleasant, that rambling through the big building was delightful, and the people took full advantage of it.

Straub, Allegheny; W. J. Meek, Pittsburgh; C. B. Eiber, Pittsburgh; S. H. Cook, McDonald Station; Robert Kennedy; R. F. Shannon, Pittsburgh. Mr. Shannon displays about fifteen fine pigeons.

PRESS COMMITTEE MEETING.

The Exposition Press Committee held a meeting last evening, at headquarters, Chairman Fleming presiding, and Mr. George Wardman acting as Secretary pro tem. Reports of the sub-committees appointed to extend courtesies to visiting members of the press were called for, and several gentlemen made interesting statements of their daily operations for the week. The reports showed that while the members were not overburdened with work, nevertheless their duties had been faithfully performed. The same committees were continued for the coming week. The question of adjournment sine die of the Press Committee was freely discussed, but a majority being opposed to the project, it was postponed for the present. Some other business, not of special public interest, was transacted, after which the Committee adjourned until Friday evening next, at eight o'clock.

BRIEFS.

Mr. Charles McKnight yesterday resigned his position as General Manager, giving as a reason that he is going into other business.

It is pretty certain that the Exposition will be continued longer than the month originally advertised. How long the time will be extended, however, has not been settled upon. There has been a general demand that it be kept up in order to give all an opportunity to see the great show.

The little children should bear in mind, and parents also, that this is the day for juveniles at the Exposition, when everything possible will be done to add to their pleasure and enjoyment. The attendance of little ones last Saturday was very large, and we doubt not that to-day will fully equal it.

There were about twelve thousand people present at the Exposition on Thursday. Over ten thousand tickets were sold.

A delegate from Washington county who visited the Exposition on the excursion yesterday became "too full for utterance" last evening, and fell into the hands of footpads not far from the building, who relieved him of his watch.

THE POP CORN MAN.

Without doubt the most popular and best known man in the Exposition is Mr. Baker, the Pop Corn man. He has two large stands—one just east of the Pagoda and the other a few yards west of the large fountain. A visit to the Exposition would be incomplete without it included some of the Pop Corn, and hence his stands are always surrounded by people who want to see how it is made, and to purchase. The corn is parched at the stand, and while smoking hot a syrup, made from the best granulated sugar, is poured over it. The corn thus flavored is then pressed into large balls in a very handsome silver plated machine, which was invented by Mr. Baker himself, and is the only one in use anywhere. Mr. Baker has such a large trade at the Exposition that he is compelled to employ fifteen persons to manufacture and sell the corn. He originated his present mode of making and selling Pop Corn and Ice Cream Candy at the Ohio State Fair, about fifteen years ago, and his stand was one of the great features of the Fair until about two years ago, when he gave up Fairs and took to Expositions. He had the Candy and Pop Corn privilege in the Cincinnati Exposition from the beginning, and came here highly recommended by the officers of that institution. His honorable manner of settling the dispute on the candy question has corroborated all that was said in his favor.

Mr. Baker is somewhat of a stranger to most of our people, but he is well known in the wholesale Grocery, Drug and Queensware trade, as these dealers obtain from him nearly all their supply of sealing wax. He is not only the champion Pop Corn man, but also takes the lead in the manufacture of sealing wax. He has an establishment in Dayton, Ohio, from which is turned out annually about four hundred thousand pounds of sealing wax, which is shipped to Philadelphia, Baltimore, St. Louis, Chicago, Pittsburgh and all the principal cities in the Union. His reputation in business circles stands very high and there are thousands who have been in attendance at the Exposition who will have sweet recollections of the "pop corn man."

BLAKE'S CRUSHER.

By a little oversight the types yesterday morning made us say that the office of Mr. E. S. Blake, agent for Blake's Crusher and patentee of Blake's Pulverizer, was at No. 1 Sixth Avenue, when it should have read Sixth Street. The office is on the third floor of the building, first door from the Suspension Bridge.

ARMSTRONG, FAWCETT & M'KELVY.

The White Lead and Color manufacturers are very well represented at the Exposition, and the exhibitors in this line have all done well, but none of them have outstripped the firm of Messrs. Armstrong, Fawcett & McKelvy. This firm, which is recognized among our most prominent and favorably known White Lead and Color manufacturing houses, is composed of young men noted for their enterprise, business tact and reliability. Their works are situated at 303 to 310 River avenue, Allegheny, and cover about an acre of ground. They have put into these works all the best modern and improved machinery for manipulating the lead in the process of manufacturing, and Mr. Armstrong, who is a practical lead worker, and one of the most experienced in our vicinity, gives his personal attention to the manufacture. By these means a white lead is secured which, for purity, whiteness and fineness, has no superior in the market. This brand has gained a high reputation and does not suffer in comparison with the best standard brands in the country. Recently when put in competition it was pronounced the best of five brands exhibited. It is strictly pure white lead and is used by our most reliable contractors for the finest work. The firm are content to sell their goods on their merits and not to indulge in boasting, as they believe assertion, guarantee and recommendation do not improve the quality. The goods can be seen and speak for themselves.

This firm also manufactures Colors largely, and all goods covered by their brand is a sufficient guarantee of the very finest quality. Their office is at No. 37 Wood street, and dealers will find them very liberal and accommodating people to deal with.

MARBLE WORK.

The establishment of Mr. Alexander Beggs had enjoyed a first class reputation long before the Exposition, but since the opening of the great show thousands of people have had their eyes opened to the superiority of this house in a way that they never had before. Mr. Beggs has put on exhibition some samples of his work in the way of mantels, which really take down anything of that kind ever turned out from a marble works hereabouts. For beauty of design, exquisite finish and delicacy of carving, the mantel in the north side Parlor takes the lead over anything of that kind that has been put on exhibition. Mr. Beggs secures this great excellence by first employing none but the best workmen, and next in using nothing but the best material. His workmen are not ordinary mechanics, but men who have an artistic appreciation of their work, and over all Mr. Beggs exercises a personal supervision. He prides himself on the fact that no piece of work ever leaves his establishment that will not stand the test of the most rigid scrutiny, or the action of the atmosphere.

The works of Mr. Beggs are at Nos. 67 and 69 Anderson street, Allegheny, where he has a number of fine samples on hand, and where those who want to see how fine work is done are invited to call.

KLOMAN, PARK & CO.

Messrs. Kloman, Park & Co., of the Iron City Tool Works, have taken a space in the Iron Department, where they exhibit some bright and beautiful samples of their work. They have a cabinet case standing on a table, in which their manufactures are displayed so as to be seen from all deirctions in walking along the aisle. Their samples are manufactured of solid Black Diamond Steel, highly polished, and of the very finest finish. They comprise picks, mattocks, grub hoes, crowbars, wedges, vises, coal picks, miner's picks, &c., and the display is a very full and complete one. There is nothing in the line of steel work in the Exposition that so much impresses the spectator with its evident carefulness of workmanship and superiority of material, for such specimens could not have been made unless both these elements had entered into the work. The firm fully appreciate these facts, and hence they are extremely careful in both directions—in selecting men as well as material.

This firm was established in 1866, and their works have been running full ever since, they were started at that time. The superiority of their manufactures has given them an immense trade. It extends through all the States as far South as Galveston, Texas, North to Canada, East to New England, and West to California, and they also ship large quantities of their goods to South America and Australia. The excellence of their goods alone is the reason for this extended trade, as the firm make no special efforts to attract attention, but quietly work away, manufacturing goods that win their own way by real merit into popular favor wherever such goods are needed. It is the old story illustrative of that incalculably important business principle that real continued, solid success is not to be gained by making representations that cannot be maintained, but that success comes by giving the very best and most reliable article for the purchaser's money.

Among other specialties is a patent solid eye picks and mattock, which has no equal in this country. It is generally conceded that for quality of steel and finish of work, they lead all other manufacturers in this line. A significant evidence of this fact is that they are doing a large business with the railroads,—which are proverbial for using only the best tools.

They have large works, and employ eighty hands. They are supplied with all the best facilities for doing their work, and can turn out large quantities. Their office and works are located at the corner of Thirty-second street and the Allegheny Valley Railroad. Their display at the Exposition is fully up to the standard expected from such a representative manufacturing firm, and it is appreciated by the general public.

EXPERIMENTING WITH ELAINE.

The visitors to the Exposition yesterday who gathered around that stand—which is the centre of attraction—where Elaine is sold, had a fine opportunity for seeing demonstrated the absolute impossibility of making Elaine explode. A cup of the oil was taken and a wick, saturated with the oil, was lighted. When the wick was burning fiercely, it was put into the cup of oil, and the flame was instantly extinguished as quickly as though it had been thrown into a cup of water. Again, a lamp was burning; the attendant took off the top and lit the wick at the lower end. This wick, all in a blaze, was then thrust into the lamp filled with oil and the flame was quenched immediately, while the top was being screwed on, and all the while the wick at the top kept burning. The lamp was again taken and turned upside down. The flame of the wick was drowned out by the oil, but there was no explosion. So the oil was put through other tests, and every one demonstrated that it was absolutely impossible to make it explode. The proof of the pudding is in the eating. The proof of the pre-eminent superiority of Elaine is in its use. For clear light and absolute safety from explosion, it is the best oil in the world.

REFRESHMENTS.

There will doubtless be thousands of people at the Exposition again to-day, and they will thank us for directing their attention to the best place to secure a little liquid refreshment to slake their thirst. The place is the stand of Messrs. McClarran & McKennan, and the beverage comes from the magnificent soda fountain, which is one of the prettiest things in the Exposition. This soda water is a clear, pure, sparkling, health-giving beverage. It is made with the greatest care, out of the very best materials, and is flavored with syrups that are the pure juice of the fruit. It is the real genuine "Simon pure" article in the way of soda water, and there is nothing in it that would injure the tenderest infant. Be sure when you visit the Exposition to-day to take a drink at the Fountain.

SOMETHING RICH IN FURNITURE.

The display in the furniture line made by Messrs. Joseph Meyer & Son, of Nos. 412 and 414 Penn avenue, is really one of the finest exhibitions of the kind ever made in Pittsburgh. This display is to be seen in the south gallery, and as a combination of the artistic and the useful it is something of a rare character. There is a Cylinder Desk that would delight a business man of taste and wealth, in its harmony of form, perfection of proportion and general completeness of design. The sideboard is also a remarkable piece of skillful work, and the graining of the veneers is as pretty as a picture could be. The rich knotting and veining of French walnut, Russia maple and American walnut make a charming contrast. These pieces are specimens of workmanship which would not be out of place amid the most gorgeous surroundings. They show that the high reputation of this firm has been eminently deserved, and that their establishment is really the place to go to get the very best furniture, and that too at reasonable rates considering the quality.

FLOWERS.

Yesterday was the sixth Floral day. Messrs. Murdoch were awarded all the First premiums offered, including a silver medal for the best new Design in flowers. This was a magnificent Mississippi river steamboat composed of Tea rosebuds, Tuberoses, Violets, Lilies and other choice flowers; it was an elegant piece of workmanship and reflects the highest credit on these gentlemen, who by the way, have thus far taken Thirteen of the Seventeen first premiums offered for cut flowers. Their Bride's Boquet was a gem.

MAKE HOME BEAUTIFUL.

After all the best thoughts of a man center around his home and the more attractive it is made the more charms it will have for him and the stronger its claims upon his attention. Home should be made beautiful and we know of no one thing that will tend to make it so more than a neat, pretty, comfortable carpet on its floors and there is now no excuse for not having these, because the figures are so low and the styles so varied that every purse and taste can be gratified. Especially is it the case at the Carpet House of Messrs. D. & F. S. Welty, Nos. 115 and 117 Federal street, Allegheny. They make a rare exhibit on the walls of the Exposition dining hall, and their samples will be found only an average of their general stock. All their goods are warranted, and they sell at the very lowest prices consistent with articles which they can recommend. Every housekeeper should first look at their stock before purchasing elsewhere.

RUMBERGER, GREGG & CO.

The display made by Messrs. Rumberger, Gregg & Co., of No. 161 Wood street, attracts general attention. The great fact concerning this display is, that the goods are just such as are to be seen in the store, —they having been taken directly from the shelves, and no attempt having been made to get up "fancy" samples—that could not be duplicated every day. The assortment embraces barred flannels, blankets, and opera flannel. The goods are all wool,—not a single cotton thread in them.

The firm can produce more goods at their mill than any other establishment in the West. The patterns are all new and original, and unite harmony of colors with the neat woolen material. Their display is opposite the north side suite of rooms.

HARRIS & EWING.

In the drug department, the display which "carries the bells" is that made by Messrs Harris & Ewing, the druggists of No. 341 Liberty street. The more this display is examined the more its excellence and beauty will be made apparent. There are drugs, both mineral and vegetable, from every clime, continent and country on the globe, besides valuable medicines ready for use, and known to be excellent both to relieve and remedy the ills flesh is heir to, among which are many manufactured by this firm, including "Dr. Harris' Summer Cordial for Children Teething and all Summer Diseases," "Croup Cure for every Ache and Pain," "Lofoden Cod Liver Oil, the purest and best," and "Continental Worm Drops, a Homeopathic Vermifuge," &c. All specially prepared under Dr. Harris' direction. There are some very rare drugs in the list—which have been imported by the firm and are exclusively sold by them here. It is a display which could not be duplicated by any house in the city. Messrs. Harris & Ewing here, as elsewhere, maintain their rank at the head of the trade.

MR. THOMAS CARLIN.

Mr. Thomas Carlin, of Sandusky street, Allegheny, the well-known steam engine builder, has a fine sample of work from his establishment, in Power Hall. It is a steam engine, of fourteen inch cylinder and thirty inch stroke. The engine drives a line of three inch shafting three hundred and sixty feet in length and all the machinery attached thereto. Mr. Carlin proposed to run all the machinery in the Exposition with his engine, but the Executive Committee thought it better to give some of the others a chance to work their engines. The Carlin engine runs without noise, so that a man standing by it—if it were not for the rattle of the other machinery—might hear the ticking of a watch held in his hand. The work on the engine is plain, but substantial. There has been no attempt at useless ornamentation, but it has been built for work—which is a characteristic of everything turned out from this establishment. That this style of engine is appreciated is attested by the fact that there are eight of them at work in this city alone, and one party who has had one running for six years says it is running as smoothly as the one on exhibition in Power Hall. There are half a dozen firms in the city who have different styles of engines of the Carlin make in operation, and they are unanimous in their praises of the work turned out from this establishment.

Mr. Carlin also has on exhibition a twelve inch cylinder, twenty foot stroke. It is built with the steam chest and valve on the side, which is so arranged as to give a direct motion from the eccentric to the valve. This results in a great saving of the wearing parts and economy of steam. The engine was built to fill a want long felt by parties who were running planing, grist or saw mills, who needed an engine that would run at a high speed. The crank has a balance to overcome the momentum of the moving parts; the valve is designed to cut off the steam at the most economical point, and the whole engine is so plain and the bearings so large that it will require little or no attention, and will not require skilled labor to run it, while the cost to keep it in repair is reduced to the lowest point.

Mr. Carlin also has on hands and builds to order engines from two to three horse power, and also builds hoisting engines of the most unquestioned superiority. All the castings used by him are made in the foundry attached to his machine shop; this foundry has two cupolas, and castings are made from two to eight tons in weight. His foundry and machine shops are complete in every particular and no engine that was ever turned out of the establishment—whether it was large or small—has ever been excelled for finish of work and effectiveness of its kind.

THE WORK TELLS.

The Wheeler & Wilson sewing machines, as exhibited in the sewing machine department and kept running by hand and steam power, demonstrate their excellence in three ways. First by their simplicity of mechanism. Second, by the ease with which they are operated; and third, by their work. In each of these particulars they stand in the front rank in the estimation of seamstresses and practical mechanics, who understand such mechanism. One great feature of the new Wheeler & Wilson is the "take up" by which the thread is taken up as the machine runs, regardless of whether there is a piece of goods underneath to be sewed upon or not. In other machines, when in operation, if the material slips, or by any accident is taken from under the needle, the thread tangles and causes considerable trouble. This is an advantage which all seamstresses will highly appreciate.

In variety and range of work, also, the Wheeler & Wilson takes the lead. Fine or coarse work can be done on the ordinary family machine with equal facility. This is not a mere statement unsupported by evidence, but the proof is before the thousands of visitors to the Exposition who have seen the machines in operation, and had an opportunity to judge of the work.

The general manager, Mr. Sidney Omohundro, has done well in the fitting up of his space, for he not only exhibits the different styles of machines, but has put competent and courteous operatives in charge, whose politeness to visitors is duly appreciated.

MUSIC AND A MUSICIAN.

Messrs. S. Hamilton & Co., of No. 51 Fifth avenue, have made their stand attractive by first putting first-class instruments there, and then putting a first-class musician and performer in charge. The instruments are the famous and unrivalled Decker Pianos, and the sweet-toned Estey cottage and church organs. The world is challenged to produce instruments which will make sweeter music than these instruments in their respective lines, or instruments that will be more durable. They are made of the best materials, and by manufacturers who have long stood unexcelled.

The firm have secured Prof. Gleffer, of New York, to manipulate the keys, and to show what melody there is in them. Prof. Gleffer is one of the most brilliant players ever present in Pittsburgh, and the way he flings the music from the instruments is simply marvellous. He has sympathetic tenderness united to boldness and decisiveness in playing that brings out the purest, sweetest, most entrancing melody. He is not only a player, but a composer as well, and has since he came here composed an Exposition march, with which he occasionally delights the bystanders. His home is in New York, but we understand that he has had several tempting offers to remain here, and efforts are being made to get him to stay and pursue his profession in this vicinity. He is an accomplished musician, both as to theory and practice and as a teacher is specially gifted with the power to impart knowledge. We hope he may be induced to stay.

PAINE, ABLETT & TRIPP.

The finest display of oils, by all odds, is that made by the well-known dealers, Messrs. Paine, Ablett & Tripp, of No. 360 Penn avenue. They have a space just at the foot of the west stairway, south side, where their goods are very neatly arranged in glass vials. The firm is enabled to make the best display in this line because they are not only manufacturers, but also dealers in oils, and so have the run of the market. They have over thirty different samples on exhibition, in all of which they deal. These samples represent all kinds of oil, from the aristocratic sperm to the most plebian and cheapest product of petroleum. Among the specialties in which they deal are oils for woolen mills, oils for flour mills, oils for rolling mills, oils for coal cars, cylinder oils, engine oils, &c. Their justly celebrated No. 1 wool oil has a wide-spread fame, and is sold in nearly every State in the Union. It is without a rival.

In the way of a first class non-explosive burning oil they manufacture the widely famed "White Light Olena" which has met with universal favor wherever it has been used, and which is being sold in all sections. It is really a safe burning oil in every respect.

This firm also deal in Paraffine Wax and other products of petroleum. They have a very large trade, and are recognized wherever they have dealings for their integrity, promptitude and square dealing. It is one of the most reliable houses engaged in the oil trade in Pittsburgh, and we are glad to note its display at our great Exposition.

FRIEDMANN'S PATENT INJECTORS.

Among the important inventions exhibited in Power Hall which have attracted the attention of engineers and others, is the Friedmann Patent Injector, which is seen in the display made by the well known house of Messrs. Bailey, Farrell & Co. This is one of the great inventions of the age, and though it has only been before the public for about six years, it has come into very general use. The best of engineers now concede the great advantage of injectors for feeding boilers, and when we say that Friedmann's stands at the head of the list we will be only reiterating what nine-tenths of practical engineers have said.

The advantages claimed for the Friedmann in general are: First. It will deliver more water with less steam than any other injector in the world. It requires fifty per cent. less steam, and so sure is its inventor of its merits that competition is invited and the word is challenged. Second. The flow of water can be regulated at pleasure. The injector in operation in Power Hall can be reduced from its maximum of six hundred gallons to one gill an hour, and yet the stream will be steady and regular all the time. Third. The Friedmann will work with either cold or hot water, which cannot be done with any other injector. Fourth. The lifting style of the injector will elevate water fifteen feet, and force it into a boiler against any pressure. Fifth. It starts promptly. Sixth. It does not lower the boiler pressure when feeding. Seventh. It has no movable parts to get out of order. Eighth. A valve in the overflow prevents the admission of air into the boiler.

There are many other advantages that might be named but these will be sufficient to give a general idea of its excellence. In Europe these injectors have been adopted on the railroads. They are on each locomotive and do away with the pumps entirely. They have also been adopted on railroads in this country, and are in use on the Pan Handle and Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroads. We instance these roads because they lead into the city, and parties interested here can learn where they can see the pumps in actual daily operation on locomotives. They have been in use on these roads for the past five years and have given, in every case, perfect satisfaction.

Engineers and others interested can see by a practical demonstration in Power Hall, what the Friedmann can do.

A FINE SAMPLE OF STEEL.

Almost opposite the tack making machines at the east end on the main floor, is an interesting piece of mechanism known as the "Foot Power Forge Hammer." It engages special attention, not only from the fact that it is a new and useful tool, but because it is about as handsome a specimen of cast steel as can be found anywhere. Mechanics and manufacturers especially have given much attention to an inspection of these castings. The castings were made through the "Hussey" process of making steel castings, by the "Crucible Steel Casting Co. Limited," successors to Hussey, Dravo & Co., South Side, Pittsburgh.

It is claimed that by this process there is produced a more dense and ductile metal than by any other, and a metal, too, which can be forged, drawn out, and finished on the lathe, having fewer blows (the bane of steel castings) than any of its competitors.

An examination of the castings mentioned will suffice to show that the claims are not too broad. The closest inspection will fail to discover a flaw or defect on the highly finished surface.

Cast steel castings, although of comparatively recent date, are now destined to take the place of so many expensive wrought iron forgings, that this is a matter of great interest to every machinist or owner of a mill. All such, therefore, will be interested in knowing where they can secure the very best article, and in anticipation of their inquiries we unhesitatingly refer them to this company, whose works are located at the south end of the Monongahela Suspension Bridge, crossing over from Smithfield street. A visit to the works will well repay the inquirer who desires to learn more of these castings. Here the company manufactures all kind of machinery and agricultural steel castings, from their own make of crucible steel, guaranteed as to its quality. The whole operation can be seen at the works, and the visitor can have a practical demonstration of the superiority of this method of casting steel.

We quote a paragraph: "All I can say in regard to the opening of the work here in Brooklyn, is in the words of the sweet singer of Israel, which words occur no less than four times in the One Hundred and Seventh Psalm, 'O that men would praise the Lord for His goodness, and for his wonderful works to the children of men.'"

PERSONAL.

Among the exhibitors at the Exposition we find our young and courteous friend, Mr. James W. Batchelor, presiding over the splendid display made by the National Tube Works Company. The space taken by this company is fitted up in very neat style with their wares, and James is just the attendant to politely and intelligently explain to all inquirers.

We had the pleasure yesterday of greeting Mr. Jno. G. We learn, nevertheless, from his conversation, that his English is only apparent. He is, if possible, more thoroughly American than ever and sings "Home, Sweet Home" with a renewed and special zest.

A SOHO ACCIDENT.

A Possibly Fatal Result of a Runaway.

Yesterday afternoon, about one o'clock, a woman named Mrs. G. Graff was driving a milk wagon on Second avenue, at Soho, when the horses became frightened at a passing train on the Connellsville Railroad, and ran off. The wagon struck a lamp-post, throwing Mrs. G. out. She was caught between the post and the wagon, her left foot and ankle being terribly crushed, and her right leg hurt seriously. Besides this she received other injuries that may prove dangerous, if not fatal. She was removed to her home on Squirrel Hill, and Dr. Murdoch summoned, who decided that amputation of the left foot would be necessary.

Marble Mantels.

We have set up, for exhibition, in our show rooms, 319 and 321 Liberty street, Pittsburgh, Pa., the largest variety, and the most beautiful stock of mantels in the city, which we will sell at prices to suit the times. We also manufacture and keep on hand,

GRATES, GRATE FRONTS, AND FENDERS,

made in neat style and finished in a handsome manner. Our new

is the latest and simplest improvement in the grate line. It is neat and efficient, and will clean out the ashes in two seconds, and do it thoroughly. The grate is so arranged that the fine dust is mostly carried up back of the grate, into the chimney, and not on fender or over the room. Our shaker is so constructed that it removes the ashes from the lower part of the grate, without disturbing the upper part of the fuel, thereby securing a more thorough combustion, and a greater amount of heat from the coal, than would otherwise be obtained.

Our grate and shaker are simple, and cost so little to fit them up, ready for use, that we can sell them at half the price that other shakers have been selling for.

Our grates are all warranted to give satisfaction.

N. B.—"As seeing is believing," purchasers are invited to call and examine our mantels and see our Pendulum grate in practical operation at 319 and 321, Liberty street, Pittsburgh.

Steamship Arrivals Yesterday.

Dispatches received at Max Schamberg's European Steamship, Exchange and Telegraph office, at 163 Smithfield street, announce the arrival of the steamer Algeria at New York; the steamer Arragon at New York; the steamer Darien at New York; the steamer Canada at New York; the steamer Egypt at Liverpool; the steamer Denmark off Diehl; the steamer Leipsig at Southampton; the steamer Donan at Bremen; and the sterner Bothnia at Queenstown.

Enfeebling Pursuits.

Nature intended that we should use our legs freely, and revenges herself upon those who constantly sit in their daily avocations indoors by depriving them of that robust health which usually falls to the share of those who labor on foot in the open air, and very frequently inflicts upon them diseases and premature infirmities which they might have avoided by a more active life. Persons who become enfeebled in consequence of sedentary habits or occupations cannot do better than to resort to a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as a means of recovering lost strength. Nor should they postpone a recourse to this supreme tonic and preventive of physical decay longer than absolutely necessary, as weakness is too often the percursor of diseases. The Bitters are also invaluable as a remedy for dyspepsia, constipation, intermittent fever, urinary and rheumatic complaints.

VEGETINE

Purifies the Blood, Renovates and Invigorates the Whole System.

Its Medical Properties are

ALTERATIVE, TONIC, SOLVENT AND DIURETIC.

VEGETINE is made exclusively from the juices of carefully selected barks, roots and herbs, and so strongly concentrated that it will effectually eradicate from the system, every taint of Scrofula, Scrofulous Humor, Tumors, Cancer, Cancerous Humors, Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Syphilitic Diseases, Canker, Faintness at the Stomach, and all diseases that arise from impure blood. Sciatica, Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Gout and Spinal Complaints, can only be effectually cured through the blood.

For Ulcers and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, Pustules, Pimples, Blotches, Boils, Tetter, Scaldhead and Ringworm, VEGETINE has never failed to effect a permanent cure.

For Pains in the Back, Kidney Complaints, Dropsy, Female weakness, Leucorrhœa, arising from internal ulceration, and uterine diseases and General Debility, VEGETINE acts directly upon the causes of these complaints. It invigorates and strengthens the whole system, acts upon the secretive organs, allays inflammation, cures ulceration, and regulates the bowels.

For Catarrh, Dyspepsia, Habitual Costiveness, Palpitation of the Heart, Headache, Piles, Nervous and General prostration of the Nervous System, no medicine has ever given such perfect satisfaction as the VEGETINE. It purifies the blood, cleanses all the organs, and possesses a controlling power over the nervous system.

The remarkable cures effected by VEGETINE have induced many physicians and apothecaries whom we know to prescribe and use it in their own families.

In fact, VEGETINE is the best remedy yet discovered for the above diseases, and it is the only reliable BLOOD PURIFIER yet placed before the public.

PREPARED BY

H. R. STEVENS, BOSTON, MASS.

WHAT IS VEGETINE?

It is a compound extracted from barks, roots and herbs. It is Nature's Remedy. It is perfectly harmless from any bad effect upon the system. It is nourishing and strengthening. It acts directly upon the blood. It quiets the nervous system. It gives you good, sweet sleep at night. It is a great panacea for our aged fathers and mothers; for it gives them strength, quiets their nerves, and gives them Nature's sweet sleep—as has been proved by many an aged person. It is the great Blood Purifier. It is a soothing remedy for our children. It has relieved and cured thousands. It is very pleasant to take; every child likes it. It relieves and cures all diseases originating from impure blood. Try the VEGETINE. Give it a fair trial for your complaints; then you will say to your friend, neighbor and acquaintance, "Try it; it has cured me."

VEGETINE, for the complaints for which it is recommended, is having a larger sale throughout the United States than any other one medicine. Why?

Vegetine will Cure these Complaints.

Report from a Practical Chemist and Apothecary.

BOSTON, Jan. 1, 1874.

Dear Sir—This is to certify that I have sold at retail 154 1-3 dozen (1852 bottles) of your VEGETINE, since April 12, 1870, and can truly say that it has given the best satisfaction of any remedy for the complaints for which it is recommended that I ever sold. Scarcely a day passes without some of my customers testifying to its merits on themselves or their friends. I am perfectly cognizant of several cases of Scrofulous Tumors being cured by VEGETINE alone in this vicinity.

Very respectfully yours,
AI GILMAN,
468 Broadway.

To H. R. STEVENS, ESQ.

The great benefit I have received from the use of VEGETINE induces me to give my testimony in its favor. I believe it to be, not only of great value for restoring the health, but a preventive of diseases peculiar to the spring and summer season.

I would not be without it for ten times its cost.
